

Senate Rejects British Aid Bill Amendment to Forbid Convoys From Hemisphere

Proposition Is Offered as Substitute to Amendment Written by Ellender Are Poles Apart Opponents and Supporters of Measure Turn Upon O'Mahoney

Washington, March 7 (AP)—The Senate rejected an amendment to the British aid bill which would forbid the conveying by American armed forces of war materials shipped out of the western hemisphere.

The roll call vote was 62 to 28. The vote came on a proposal by Senator O'Mahoney (D., Wyo.) offered as a substitute to an amendment sponsored by Senator Ellender (D., La.). The Ellender amendment states that nothing in the measure should be construed as changing existing laws governing the land and naval forces.

While O'Mahoney had contended that his proposal as originally drawn would rule out convoys, he rewrote it slightly at the suggestion of Senator Bone (D., Wash.) so that Bone finally described it as "a blunt prohibition against convoys."

The vote on the O'Mahoney amendment came after opponents of the bill suddenly had shifted their strategy and Senator Clark (D., Mo.) had withdrawn temporarily a proposal to prohibit the use of any future appropriations to send American armed forces outside the western hemisphere and American possessions unless Congress declared war.

Before the vote opponents and supporters alike of the measure had turned against O'Mahoney's amendment.

Although together in disliking this proposal, by Senator O'Mahoney (D., Wyo.), they were still poles apart on the bill as a whole and continued their arguments while at the White House President Roosevelt was saying every day's delay would affect deliveries of a little later on to what he termed the democracies.

Senator Clark (D., Mo.) told reporters that he and others of the opposition intended to vote against the O'Mahoney amendment, because he said, it would permit the conveying by the navy of war shipments "up to within two miles of combat areas."

Senator Connally (D., Tex.) predicted that most supporters of the measure would oppose the O'Mahoney amendment, and favor instead one by Senator Ellender (D., La.) stating that nothing in the bill should be construed as changing existing laws governing the land and naval forces.

Better Not Answer

Asked at a press conference whether the delay on the legislation, pending in the Senate, was having serious effect, the President asserted at first that he had better not answer.

But he went on to add that reporters were aware that he had stated ever since the legislation was submitted to Congress that perhaps a delay at this time, in February or early March, does not affect immediate aid to the democracies, but will affect deliveries a little later on.

Confident of "working majority," administration leaders called for night Senate sessions today in a renewed drive to kill off numerous opposition amendments and hasten passage of the British aid bill.

Democratic Leader Barkley, announcing his intention of holding the chamber in session until 10 tonight, said pending opposition amendments would be rejected by a comfortable margin.

The immediate contest centered around determined attempts by opponents to write into the measure their idea of a satisfactory provision prohibiting the use of United States armed forces outside the western hemisphere and American possessions.

Might Encourage Japan

Administration lieutenants took the position that these amendments might encourage Japanese "new order" expansion southward in the Orient, and also might seriously weaken the hand of Secretary of State Hull in dealings with foreign governments.

The first such amendment to claim consideration today was the proposal by Senator Clark (D., Mo.) to forbid the use of any appropriations under the British aid measure for the transportation of American troops out of the Western hemisphere.

Hayes Surrenders Seattle to Test To Begin Prison First Blackout of Term at Hartford Big American City

Ex-Lieut.-Governor, Eight Others Are in Custody; Two Others Sought by Officials More Than 10,000 Persons Recruited for Various Jobs; Planes Will Take Pictures

Hartford, Conn., March 7 (AP)—Former Lieutenant-Governor Frank Hayes began a 10 to 15-year term in state prison today, his conviction of conspiring to defraud Waterbury of more than $1,000,000 during his five-term regime as mayor of that city affirmed by the Connecticut Supreme Court.

Within five hours after the Supreme Court of Errors up held the convictions of Hayes, a Democrat, and nine other men sentenced to minimum terms of one to 10 years as principals in the notorious graft plot, eight of them were behind prison bars last night and two were at large.

The high court freed four other appellants, two of them members of a New York city accounting firm.

Leary Is at Large

State Police Commissioner Edward J. Hickey said his men could not locate Daniel J. Leary, wealthy beverage manufacturer and former city comptroller, who was also sentenced to 10 to 15 years, but that he expected John S. Johnston, New York businessman who drew a two to five-year term, would be brought to the Wethersfield prison today.

Stating that his force was not "letting any grass grow under our feet," Hickey said he would press the search for Leary today.

The Supreme Court likened the quartet of Hayes, Leary, Thomas P. Kelly, Hayes' former executive secretary, and Carl D. Olsen, former Waterbury banker, to "the head of an octopus" and the other defendants to the "arms of the octopus."

Kelly began a seven to 12 year term last night, while Olsen, who did not appeal, is now serving a similar sentence.

The "head" and the "arms," the unanimous decision read, cooper-

City College Official Recommends Charges Be Brought Against 40 or 50

New York, March 7 (AP)—Charles H. Tuttle, chairman of the Board of Education's administrative committee for City College, recommended today that charges of "conduct unbecoming a teacher" be brought against "40 or 50" at the school who were named by a history instructor as members of the Communist party.

Tuttle said he was writing to the board's special committee on conduct of staff members "to request that it consider the immediate presentation of charges."

His action followed testimony yesterday by William M. Canning, City College history instructor, before the Rapp-Coudert committee investigating alleged subversive activities in public schools.

22 Millions Spent Upon Campaign

Senate Committee Says Major Parties Expended That Amount; Asks Tighter Laws

Reforms Listed

Senator Tobey Delivers Sharp Opinion of Minority

Washington, March 7 (AP)—The Senate campaign investigating committee, reporting that the major parties had spent almost $22,000,000, at a minimum, during the 1940 presidential contest, recommended today that Congress fix rigid limits on political funds and tighten up other federal election laws.

Republican groups were credited with expenditures of almost $15,000,000, and Democrats, with more than $6,000,000.

The special committee submitted a 10-point political reform program in its 191-page final report, which included separate, sharply worded minority statements from Senator Tobey (R-NM).

Tobey, in his reports, asked a congressional investigation of Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City, N. J., powerful Democratic leader, charged that Oliver A. Quayle, Democratic national committee leader, had "lied brazenly and unhesitatingly" to the committee; questioned $300,000 loaned to Democrats by R. J. Reynolds; and criticized primary expenditures by Senator Radcliffe (D-MD).

Reflecting a prolonged dispute among the five senators appointed to police last year's election, the special committee offered no specific "remedial legislation" but cited 10 "objectives" to be attained and suggested that the regular Senate committee on privileges and elections frame actual legislation.

Largely Ineffective

The majority found that existing federal laws seeking to limit expenses of a presidential campaign to $3,000,000 and individual contributions to $5,000 in one year had been "largely ineffective."

Its tabulation showed reported expenditures of $22,740,313 and contributions of $24,174,223 in 1940 and the committee conceded that "total expenditures will never be known" because of a lack of complete reporting requirements.

It found that congressional attempts to limit contributions and expenditures of national committees to $3,000,000 a year under the Hatch Act, had resulted in "mushroom" growth of "independent committees," each claiming the right to raise and spend $3,000,000. The report said 130 of these independent groups operated during the last campaign, with most of them supporting the Republican presidential candidate.

The committee also criticized the Hatch Act's $5,000 limit on individual contributions because it exempted contributions to state or local groups. In this connection the committee majority cited "family contributions" of $186,780 by the Du Ponts, $108,525 by the Pews, and $59,000 by the Rockefellers, all to Republican or affiliated groups.

The first three "objectives" were aimed at these conditions with suggestions to fix definite limits both on the total amount that may be spent for national candidates and on individual contributions of all kinds.

Other Reforms

Other suggested reforms included:

A curb on "false, libelous, and scurrilous campaign literature";

A bar on "pernicious political activities" by the thousands of farmer committee men who administer federal farm program (the Agriculture Department contends these farmers are not covered by present acts);

A prohibition against "coercion" of voters by private or corporate groups (complaints were made against numerous corporations and insurance companies);

A prohibition against direct or indirect political contributions by public utilities or their officers;

A prohibition against political activities by national banks (campaign advertisements by some banks were protested);

Action to prevent "abuses of the congressional franking" or free mailing privilege (several complaints were made);

A prohibition against use of "surplus commodities" or other relief benefit for political purposes.

Senator Gillette (D-Iowa) was chairman of the special committee. Other members were Senators Tobey, Adams (D-Colo.), Hill (D-Ala.) and Reed (R-Kas.).

Guard May Stay In Service if Plan Is Given Favor

Officials May Ask Congress for Authority to Stretch Service Six Months; War Is Factor

Washington, March 7 (AP)—War department officials said today the army may ask Congress for authority to keep the National Guard in service for an additional six months or a year.

Whether the Guardsmen are kept in uniform beyond the current year's period of training will depend, it was explained, on the tenseness of the international situation.

Some 240,000 Guard officers and men have been mobilized thus far under the authority Congress voted last summer.

Should they be demobilized at the conclusion of the current year's service, the army might be faced with a "serious situation" because of a shortage of trained manpower to train the Selective Service recruits called to the colors under a continuous process, it was explained.

Some of the difficulties would be offset, however, officials said, by the expansion of the regular army, which has been increased steadily for the last two years to a present total of nearly 500,000 officers and men.

General George C. Marshall, army chief of staff, was reported to feel that a second year's service for the National Guard was advisable in the light of the present international outlook, and that a minimum of six months was indispensable.

He has told congressional and other conferees that the decision would depend on the course of events.

The original general staff scheme to create adequate land forces from the regulars, Guardsmen and selectees has been upset, officials said, by the delay in inducting the selectees. Only 200,000 have been mobilized thus far, whereas original schedules provided that 400,000 should be in uniform by March 15.

Secretary Stimson has stressed, however, that 1,418,000 men are expected to be in service by the end of June, as contemplated from the start, regardless of lags in the construction of camps and cantonments.

The building in which the men became ill is heavily guarded since virtually all the work being done is on government contracts. Bottled water is being trucked into the plant and an examination of the plant's water system is underway.

Dr. Holcomb in resigning has written Chairman Samuel Stern as follows:

Dr. Sam Stern, Chairman
Selective Service Board
Kingston, New York.

Dear Doctor Stern:

I feel that it will be necessary at this time to send in my resignation as medical examiner on the Selective Service Board.

With the co-operation of the staff of the Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital I shall be glad to continue my services in the project of X-raying the men who have been called for service. I feel that this is an important contribution to the public health work of the county and that these X-rays will always be available to the physicians of the county in caring for these men in the future.

We have already X-rayed over four hundred men and have discovered five cases of pulmonary tuberculosis in this group. Many other heart and lung abnormalities have been found, and these plates will serve as a basis for comparison in the event that these men (Continued on Page Five)

One Newspaper Declares Germany Will Get Answers to All Her Reassurances

Greeks Are Busy

Bulgarian Report Says Greeks May Abandon Thrace

(By The Associated Press)

Balkan military observers heard late today that 150,000 German troops, massed with hundreds of tanks and armored cars on the Greek-Bulgarian frontier, may strike into Greek Macedonia and Thrace "within 48 hours."

With the Nazi attack expected at any moment, Turkey adopted a stiff attitude toward Germany.

Turkey's controlled press bluntly defied Germany today, declared that the spread of the war in the Balkans seemed inevitable, and warned Adolf Hitler that against his handful of reassurances "it stands two million Turkish bayonets."

One Turkish newspaper said boldly: "If Germany comes this way she will get such an answer to these reassurances as she never got before."

Great Britain was reported to be rushing all her spare equipment to the Turks.

Greek diplomatic quarters expressed the belief that Turkey would send troops into the mountains of Grecian Thrace to help combat a German invasion of the little Aegean kingdom.

Earlier this week, Adolf Hitler sent an urgent message by plane to Turkish President Ismet Inonu in which the Nazi fuhrer was said to have asserted he desired only to look after Turkey's well-being.

Simultaneously, the British disclosed that Britain has already coped with a week-long "mock invasion" probably on a scale greater than Germany could launch.

The sham attack, it was said, featured landings by air and sea, with British staff officers impersonating the German general staff.

Defenders of the island kingdom were described as having repulsed an assault more successful than Adolf Hitler could devise.

Is Called 'Rehearsal'

Informed quarters in London also declared that Tuesday's British-Norwegian naval raid on the German-held Lofoten Islands off the coast of Norway, was a "rehearsal" for bigger things to come.

It was indicated that swift-striking British sea raiders, carrying strong landing parties, have now begun a campaign of sabotaging Nazi-held military and industrial centers along the European coast.

In the Balkans, diplomatic sources in Belgrade predicted that Yugoslavia—under pressure to choose between the Axis and Britain—would refrain from joining the Rome-Berlin-Tokyo alliance for the time being at least.

Reports that Britain was rushing equipment to Turkey seemed to indicate that Turkey was resolved to fight if Germany moves toward the Dardanelles.

Balkan observers spotted 50 German tanks poised almost within sight of the Turkish frontier.

The initial German onslaught, however—if it comes—was expected to strike into Greece's Truma river valley in Macedonia, a 60-mile corridor leading to the sea at Salonika.

Dispatches from Sofia, capital of Bulgaria, said Gen. Alexander Papagos, commander-in-chief of the Greek army, apparently intended to abandon Thrace as indefensible and make a stand along the natural bastion of the Struma.

Clearing Out Civilians

These dispatches reported that the Greeks were already clearing civilians out of Thrace—the north-east province along the Turkish border, which Bulgaria has long coveted as an outlet to the Aegean Sea.

If the Greeks should elect to fight on the Struma, abandoning Thrace, they would have only a 25-mile-wide front to defend along the Bulgarian frontier.

Yugoslavia's role in the crisis remained a mystery, but authoritative quarters in Belgrade, the Yugoslav capital, said Regent Prince Paul had conferred last Monday with Adolf Hitler at the fuhrer's Berchtesgaden retreat.

Belgrade heard that a statement reiterating Yugoslavia's neutrality might be expected within a few hours.

Yugoslav leaders conferred at length yesterday, but a subsequent communique said only that the "independence and unity" of the state were being kept constantly in view.

Yugoslavia's decision was expected to be a decisive factor in the Balkan situation.

BOY SCOUT NEWS

On Sunday, March 2, six members of the Troop 12 Explorer Patrol hiked to North Point. At 10:45 o'clock they left Kingston in two automobiles and motored to North Lake. They arrived at North Lake in approximately one hour and left immediately for North Point. It was a three-hour hike because they were walking in snow that reached their knees. At one place three of the hikers accidentally stepped in a snow drift that was about four feet deep.

On the hike to North Point they found a fox's den and saw many animal and bird tracks. Among them were snowshoe rabbit, jack rabbit, fox, squirrel and partridge. With about half an hour off for lunch, the Explorers started the return trip. They accomplished this in about half the time it took to make the ascent.

When they reached the cars most of them were glad to ride home. The hikers were Scoutmaster Floyd Spencer, Selwyn Tucker, Bernie Mizel, Robert Cooke, Hubert Hoderath and Edward DuMond.

Local Red Cross
Receives AwardUlster Chapter Is Cited for Achievement

A certificate of honor for distinguished achievement in the 24th annual Roll Call of the American Red Cross held during the fall season of 1940, has been awarded to the Ulster County Chapter, American Red Cross, it was announced today by Judge G. D. B. Hasbrouck, county chairman.

Following is the letter received by Judge Hasbrouck:

National Headquarters
Washington, D. C.
The Hon. G. D. B. Hasbrouck,
Chairman, Ulster County Chapter,
American Red Cross,
260 Fair street,
Kingston, New York.

My dear Mr. Hasbrouck:
The chairman has awarded your Chapter an Honor Certificate for distinguished achievement in the 24th Roll Call, and I take pleasure in forwarding it to you under separate cover.

Please extend our congratulations to your Roll Call chairman and our sincere appreciation to all who assisted in making the Roll Call successful.

Last Fall our Chapters enrolled the largest membership since 1919—well over 8,000,000 members—making possible increased services of both the National Organization and the Chapters. The prospects are that next Fall will see a need for a far greater membership, but we are confident that whatever the goal may be, our Chapter leaders will reach it as they have in the past.

With best wishes, I am
Sincerely yours,

Moshell to Get
Death Sentence
For Killing of Girl

White Plains, N. Y., March 7 (AP)—Judge Frank H. Coyne said today he would impose a mandatory death sentence next Wednesday upon Joseph Moshell, 47-year-old World War veteran convicted of slaying his 16-year-old daughter, Melba.

A jury late yesterday convicted Moshell of first-degree murder after deliberating four hours and 55 minutes. The judge declared the verdict was "very intelligent."

The girl was shot to death last July 4 in the presence of Sister Superior Celestine at St. Mary's-in-the-Field, a Protestant Episcopal school at Valhalla, for girls having unhappy home lives or similar problems.

Evidence presented at the trial, which started three weeks ago, showed that Moshell arrived at the school attired in his blue American Legion uniform and carrying a box of candy under one arm and a pistol in a pocket. In the presence of the sister superior, he demanded that the girl return with him to Philadelphia, where he has three cleaning and dyeing shops. The girl refused. Suddenly, Moshell dropped the candy, whipped out the pistol, fired at the girl, then turned the weapon upon himself. Two shots struck the girl. One which hit him inflicted only a flesh wound.

The girl's mother, Moshell's first wife, divorced him years ago and kept custody of the child until her death in 1939. Moshell sent for the girl, the trial evidence showed, but they didn't get along and she asked to be taken under guardianship of the Philadelphia juvenile court. The court sent her to an institution near that city, but she complained last April that he had "pestered" her. The court then sent her to the Valhalla school.

Moshell's counsel contended he had brooded over the "pestering" allegation until he reached a state of insanity, and that he was irrational at the time he shot his daughter.

LET'S TAKE THE LID OFF THE SECRET OF
GOOD COFFEE!

Why make a mystery of successful coffee? There are just a few simple facts to keep in mind—then you'll brew coffee of magnificent flavor every time. First, you must start with fine coffee beans. That's why A&P has its own resident buyers in South America to buy the pick of the plantations.

Next, after skillful blending, coffee must be roasted precisely to the flavor peak. That's why A&P developed its own exclusive flavor-control ovens that work automatically, and roast each batch to just the same perfection.

Then, coffee must reach you fresh... so A&P Coffee is sent to our stores only in the flavor-sealed bean, and ground only at the moment of purchase.

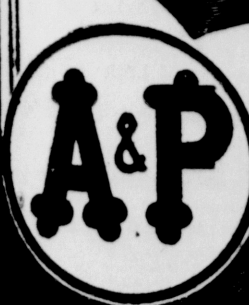

Finally, coffee beans must be ground exactly right for each type of coffee pot, or else you lose much of the fine full flavor for which you are paying. Hence, A&P Coffee is Custom Ground for your own coffee-maker. You get all the fresh, magnificent flavor of coffee at its best.

There are three A&P Coffee blends to suit every taste: Eight O'Clock, mild and mellow; Red Circle, rich and full-bodied and Boker, vigorous and zesty. Try your favorite blend today.

INCOME TAX RETURNS

The first duty of a new income taxpayer is to secure a return upon which he will report his income to the government. A record of earnings of every person liable to filing a return, but which does not necessarily mean paying a tax, is in possession of the federal authorities and those failing to make a return on time will be held accountable by the government.

With the approach of the deadline on March 15 when these returns must be filed with the Collector of Internal Revenue, a great many will be filing a tax return for the first time and many more will be actually paying an income tax. The government does not notify the new taxpayer that he must make a return, blanks being sent only to those who in previous years had filed returns. But it is up to all income taxpayers to obtain the returns. These blanks are available at the Kingston office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Department in the Central Postoffice. Tax experts also are at the office to assist those who desire help in filling out the returns.

The lowering of both the gross income factor and personal exemptions vitally affects the tax position of almost every wage earner in this country. As a result of these changes single persons, heads of families, and married people not living together are required to file a tax return if their earnings averaged about $16 a week. Married people will have to make out a return if their combined income amounted to about $39 a week.

An additional Defense Tax amounting to ten per cent of the income tax itself also must be paid this year. This is not "another income tax" as some people believe, but a separate or additional tax imposed for five years beginning January, 1940.

MUSIC AND SCREEN

Leopold Stokowski once tried the experiment of making an audience listen to a symphony concert without seeing the orchestra. He thought it distracted the listener's attention from the music to have him watching the players.

People thoroughly enjoy listening to music by radio, whether opera, symphony concert, or their favorite dance band, without visual accompaniment. But the more they enjoy such music at home, it seems, the more they want to attend a concert and see the artists in the flesh.

Operas and symphony concerts have been screened and, a few years ago, there was a charming picture entitled "Moonlight Sonata" in which Paderewski played that famous composition and a number of others. Music lovers who saw it were delighted at the close-up views of the great pianist's hands, which were seen from various positions, as they could not possibly be seen by an audience without the aid of the camera.

Now Hollywood is preparing an innovation in sound films. "Music of the Masters" is the first of a series of pictures designed to enable music students to study the technique and interpretation of master artists at close range. It shows Jose Iturbi, pianist; Mildred Dilling, harpist, and the Coolidge String Quartet. Magnificent photography presents the performers from every conceivable angle while in action and affords views of technical problems which are not evident to the average concert-goer. Such films should be widely shown. The general public would enjoy them as much as the professional musicians.

BASEBALL AND DEFENSE

If the Cleveland Indians lose their star pitcher to Uncle Sam they will regret it, but they should not complain. Baseball doubtless is one of the sports which will go on and on through good times and bad, safe times and perilous. It provides interest and enjoyment for millions of Americans, as well as a profitable career for professional players. But that does not make indispensable the presence in the game of any individual.

Bob Feller appears to be a sensible young man, willing to take his turn at military service whenever he is called. The public in general, and baseball fans in particular, will do well to be equally sensible. It will be a great disappointment to many fans if he goes early in the fall, as anticipated, but it will not be the end of baseball. And the other soldier boys will like it.

DWINDLING FAIRS

The annual fair in Leipzig, Germany, which has been operating for 700 years, has some interesting novelties this year. It features, for example, wooden bedsprings, flexible glass and a gent's necktie with a built-in zipper purse.

There are more than 6,000 other things, but these somehow seem especially interesting to an American. Just how do they make a wooden bedspring? And how come that bent glass won't break? As for the necktie with a built-in zipper purse, which can't really be of much use to Germans, many an American youth would almost give his neck to have one.

But there are few Americans visiting that fair, and no Americans at all exhibiting products there. Its scope has shrunk greatly.

Come to think of it, aren't fairs vanishing from the world in general? We don't remember hearing of any others this year. There may be some local fairs in this country and some international fairs in Latin America. But the trend is against them. Wars and fairs don't jibe. Fairs are signs of civilization and flourish only in peace.

Then, too, these long-distance truck drivers are not stagnating, and they're always going places, and they get so much fresh air.

The eagle is still our national bird, although you find a fellow here and there who seems to think it ought to be a canary.

The trouble with military uniforms in this country is that it's so hard to tell them from lodge regalia.

The British House of Lords used to have the same power as our Senate, but is now only a debating society.

England acts lately as if the British Lion had swallowed a dachshund.

Metaxas and Wavell will be remembered as the men who first used the ax on the axis.

Defense, like charity, may cover a multitude of sins.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

By James W. Barton, M.D.

(Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act.)

WEIGHT ACCORDING TO BUILD

It is hard to understand why so many overweighters try to follow the standard tables of overweight, despite the fact that the authors of these tables usually point out that in making them up they had in mind the ordinary or average type of body build. As there are the three definite types of build, heavy bulldog type, slender greyhound type and the type that is between these two (average), this must be remembered when comparing one's weight with the height and weight tables.

A simple method of arriving at the correct weight for your build is to take a real look at yourself and place yourself in your right class. If of average physique, the weight for your height should be about that given in the table. If you are of the very heavy type, wide and long body, then add 10 per cent to the weight given in the table; if of the slender type, then subtract 10 per cent from the table figures. Thus a man of average build, 5 feet 7 inches in height, should weigh about 150 pounds according to tables. If he is of the very heavy type, he should weigh the 10 per cent more, that is about 165 pounds. If of the slender type, he should weigh 10 per cent less, that is about 135 pounds.

Similarly, the woman of average build, 5 feet 4 inches in height, should weigh about 130 pounds. If she is of the heavy type, she should weigh about 145 pounds and if of the slender type, about 117 pounds.

The above figures show that there can be a difference of 30 pounds in the weight of men 5 feet 7 inches, and women 5 feet 4 inches, and yet they all are of the correct weight.

Those who are underweight and of slender build should not be discouraged if they are not quite up to the figures in the table. Similarly, those of excess weight of heavy type should not starve themselves to reach the table figures. Reaching the table figures would give them a "skinny" figure or build and could cause extreme weakness and thin blood. Many cases of collapse and even death have resulted from trying to make a "skinny" build out of a naturally heavy build.

Whether you are trying to increase or decrease weight, first take a look at yourself.

Overweight and Underweight

Overweights and underweights will find many helpful suggestions in Dr. Barton's booklet "Overweight and Underweight" (No. 105). To obtain it just send ten cents, to cover cost of handling and mailing, to The Bell Library, Post Office Box 75, Station O, New York, N. Y., mentioning the Kingston Daily Freeman.

Twenty and Ten Years Ago

Paul Cabell died in Tenafly, N. J.
 Announced that the federal government would shortly place 40 men at work repairing the Rondout Creek dyke at the entrance to the creek.

BABSON ON BUSINESS

WHAT WE CAN BELIEVE?

Babson Discusses Foreign Propaganda

Savannah, Georgia, March 7.—I have just come from the dining car of the Orange Blossom Special. While there, I was given the latest newspaper picked up en route. It was with great interest that I found in a box on the first page the following:

News from warring countries is subject to censorship. It may sometimes be misleading. It is the right and duty of every American citizen to do his own thinking, hold to his own beliefs, and not permit himself or his country to become a victim of emotionalism or propaganda.

Probably other newspapers carry similar warnings, but I had not before seen such a prominent notice on the first page of a daily paper.

Protect Free Speech

I am 100 per cent for freedom of the press; it is the foundation of democracy. When we lose it, we lose as well close up shop; but permitting free speech by Americans is very different from printing lies from abroad. When the newspapers receive dispatches from abroad, through regular channels, how do they know whether these are true or false?

People who criticize newspapers should spend a day at a managing editor's desk and see the mass of stuff which comes in from all over the world. Based upon my experience in World War I—I do not believe two-thirds of the dispatches from the capitals of Europe, Asia, and Africa. Christianity today is so ignored that every nation believes it is "right" to lie.

Notwithstanding the present dastardly lying campaigns of every nation, the world is still getting better. Emilie Folting says that in the 16th century coffee drinking was forbidden in Constantinople "because it stimulated thinking amongst the common people." It is said that the first offense was punished by beating and the second by death! Yet, in my visits to Constantinople, it seemed as though most of the people spent the largest part of the day sipping very strong coffee.

Propaganda In America

We can discount by 66 2/3 the news items from abroad; but it is difficult to keep calm over what is said within this country. The talk about "secret weapons" that a "new world order is inevitable," and that "democracy is doomed" is very bad. I also dislike talk about the utility of war and "I did not raise my boy to be cannon fodder." I recently listened to a Communist speech stressing the "corruption and oppression" by our "plutocratic democracies." Much of such talk we have heard in the halls of Congress during the past few weeks. Most of it has been honest; but some of it may have been enemy-inspired.

How far shall we go in suppressing such opinions? How can we distinguish between honest opinions of Americans and hired propaganda of foreign agents? It is more and more difficult for conscientious Americans to speak their minds if they disagree with the "higher-ups," or even with their intolerant neighbors. If we get so that those born in the U. S. or Canada cannot freely speak their honest thoughts without being persecuted, is democracy worth fighting for? Certainly, the treatment in some cities of John L. Lewis, Norman Thomas, and Marian Anderson is a disgrace to us all.

Censorship Ahead

Newsman in Washington have already been photographed and fingerprinted. The Secretary of the Navy has sent a confidential letter to newspaper asking them not to print certain facts. While making studies at Washington relative to the war uses and supplies of arsenic, I am at a loss to know whether the Chemical Warfare Service is telling me the truth or stringing me along. All of this reminds me of World War I when I worked for the Committee on Public Information under that able genius, George Creel. Although we now have no such "Committee," yet Mr. Lowell Mellett heads a great press bureau in Washington which, indirectly, has the spending of millions of dollars of taxpayers' money. This bureau may be used to lead the taxpayers astray. Although I head a large statistical organization, securing the country for facts, I am utterly bewildered at times trying to separate the truth from falsehood.

What Is The Remedy?

Of course, the real remedy for our difficulties will be found in the twentieth version of the fifth chapter of Deuteronomy. Since time immemorial, lying has been recognized as one of the ten basic sins. In fact, the only hope of world peace is to get back to the teachings of the Bible which all nations have, for the time being, thrown out of the window.

As a second suggestion, I believe that all persons who are not citizens of the U. S. or Canada should be compelled to keep their mouths shut on political and social matters, especially in connection with the war. My church friends will not back me up in this. They say that if the U. S. and Canada should prohibit foreign propaganda in their countries, all the Axis Powers and their friends would immediately throw out from their countries all American teachers, preachers, and missionaries, especially those who are paid with money from the U. S. and Canada. So the plot thickens!!

Mexico supplies 74 per cent of the world's chicle.

Your Income Tax

The Green Sheet's Gone

By ALEXANDER R. GEORGE
 AP Feature Service Writer

Washington—For the millions of Americans fighting the perennial battle or income tax returns, there is at least one consolation this year.

The painful chore of making out a "green sheet," or duplicate return, has been eliminated. The idea of the green sheet, successor to the blankety-blank pink sheet, was to provide for local tax authorities where officially requested the names of persons having taxable property. Since these persons now have been identified, the government has dispensed with the green sheet.

The making out of a single, ordinary return can be done easily and accurately, tax officials say, if the job is tackled calmly and carefully.

Here are a few tips from government experts:

Don't prepare your return until you read and understand the instructions accompanying the forms. Make out a work sheet and check it with the instructions before filling in the forms.

Don't destroy the data from which your return is compiled. You will need them for possible re-checking and verifying the return.

Don't overlook any item or schedule on the form which you are required to fill out.

Don't omit any explanation or information that is essential to a complete audit of your return.

Question Arises to What Extent N. L. R. B. Is Responsible for Encouragement of Strike Agitation

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, March 7.—To what extent is the National Labor Relations Board and its policies responsible for the encouragement of agitation which leads to strikes because of a refusal by the board to compel collective bargaining elections the moment there is a public claim of a majority or a dispute concerning the desire of a majority of the workers in a given plant?

This question becomes pertinent in view of the confession just made by the labor board itself of the various dilatory steps which its procedure permits before elections for collective bargaining are actually ordered.

The board, of course, contends that it is the Wagner act itself which permits such delays, but in truth the regulations of the board and its discretionary power could cover the contingencies mentioned without legislation.

Thus, for example, the board claims that it permits employers to petition for an election and this impression has been broadcast, but the truth is the board allows the employer to petition for an election only when there is a dispute between two rival unions. He is not allowed to petition if he has reason to doubt that a union has a majority of his employees signed up and if he thinks his employees want no union at all to represent them.

In the 24 hours an interesting example of the breakdown of the Wagner act's provision for collective bargaining as an alleged means of preventing strikes has been given to the public. John R. Steelman, director of the U. S. Conciliation Service, who is trying to bring the C. I. O. and the International C. I. O. Company together so as to terminate a serious strike on a defense contract, said that the company urged that the strikers go back to work and petition for a National Labor Relations Board election to determine whether a majority were members of the C. I. O. Company called the strike. The head of the C. I. O. flatly refused the proposal and insisted that the grievances be settled at once.

It might be asked of what avail is a collection bargaining machinery when it does not promptly establish in the public interest a union does or does not possess the majority power? The fact is that the labor board in many instances does not interject itself into the situation and compel elections, but avails itself of all sorts of devices which prevent the elections from being held, so that in many cases the unions themselves see no advantage in immediately using the machinery set up for them by the law.

The exact words of the board's policy are giving a circular letter sent out by the board's director of information a few days ago to the press in which this confession is made:

"If there is reasonable doubt as to the union's claim of a majority, or if the majority is contested by another organization, then the board holds an election. There are still other cases in which a union may be sure of its own majority, but the employer may say that he has no knowledge of the majority. In such cases, the union may insist on recognition by the employer and refuse to petition for an election. The law gives the union this right and it takes the chance of proving its majority and a violation of the act at a hearing, when the employer is charged with refusing to bargain collectively. But in every case where a union asserts a claim of a majority to the board, the board conducts an investigation, and if the claim is supported by a sufficient showing of membership or designation of the union by employees, or other designation by the employees of the union to represent them, and charges of unfair labor practice are disposed of, the board orders an election."

In the foregoing explanation by the board itself can be seen why defense strikes are on the increase. The board takes the view that a union not only can refuse to petition for an election, but can file an unfair labor practice charges on the ground that an employer refuses to bargain. The employer may be in doubt as to whether a majority of his employees have designated the union as a bargaining agent, but he cannot find out the truth through any help from the board. For the board doesn't let him petition unless there are rival unions. The union which claims the majority is then compelled to show as against an unorganized group whether it has a majority, nor can it be compelled to desist from raising the issue every few weeks. For, unless the board steps in and orders an election which is what this correspondent has been advocating as a means of making collective bargaining machinery effective, there can be no immediate counting of noses in a shop and hence conditions can be kept upset indefinitely.

The board's policy in insisting that unfair labor practice charges be disposed of before elections are ordered merely prolongs the agitation. It takes a long while to handle these charges in hearings and through the courts, when the whole issue could have been resolved at the outset by a mandatory election which the board really has power to effectuate now under the present act. If it be charged that this works against a union which hasn't attained at the time enough members for a majority rule, then the board could specify that elections can be held every six months on a given date from the time the issue is resolved. The board's present policy merely has the effect of collusion with labor organizers until a propitious moment for the holding of an election, and then the board freezes the situation for at least a year and sometimes longer.

The fact remains that nothing of a truly effective nature is being done, in the defense situation particularly, to compel collective bargaining so as to carry out the boasted preamble of the Wagner law, which is that establishment of collective bargaining will tend to promote labor peace.

Germany Prepares for War By Ewald Banse

This concerns Professor Ewald Banse's "Germany Prepares for War," which was published in Germany in 1932, found its way outside that country, and shortly afterward was banned in the home country. Supposedly.

Actually, the present publishers assert, Professor Banse continued under Hitler to hold his governmentally-installed chair of Military Science in the Brunswick Hochschule. Actually, on the eve of the "banning" in Germany, contracts for its publication in England were signed. And in 1934 the book was printed in America, attracted very little attention, and after a small first edition was exhausted, was allowed to go out of print.

Hitler and his group publicly called Banse's book "senseless babbling," and "only the private work of an irresponsible theorist." But, according to the American publishers, this same group concentrated on discrediting the book outside Germany while using Professor Banse's theories to the hilt within the borders of the Reich.

The book is a sort of blueprint of the German path to power. It should be read along with "Mein Kampf" by those who wish to understand Germany's course since 1933, and although some of the things Banse says are likely to cause both horror and disgust (such as his belief in typhoid germs as an agency of war), this horror should not disturb a cold analysis of the book. Here are a few of the Banse propositions which already have come true:

The annexation of Austria.

Spain's "strengthening."

First isolation, then the conquering of Czechoslovakia.

A Russian alliance.

Defeat of Poland (Banse calls Poland Germany's potentially most dangerous enemy on the east).

Control of Denmark.

Sweden's "useful neutrality."

Subjugation of what Banse calls "defiant and quarrelsome Norway."

Occupation of both Holland and Belgium.

A right wing push to the Channel ports.

Taking Paris.

And the propaganda scheme, too elaborate for summary here, which has worked frightfully well at times.

Brazil has just launched its tenth warship constructed in four years.

Taken For Ride

Spartanburg, S. C. (AP)—Spartanburg police, asked by Greenville officers to help catch three escaped convicts reported on a freight train headed this way, sped to a junction outside town. Sure enough, as the train began to slow down, three figures were observed aboard the rattler. Taken into custody, the trio had a hard time proving their identity but finally convinced the police they were Greenville county chain gang guards who had boarded the train to search for the fugitives and had been unable to escape themselves.

Nearly Undresses Actress

Basel, Switzerland (AP)—An actress here was forced to "borrow" her own dress to answer curtain calls at the premiere of a play in which she played the lead. The garment had been finished and was ready for delivery at the tailor's when a government decree was issued banning purchase or delivery of woolen and cotton goods. Understanding officials, however, in view of the "youth and beauty" of the actress, allowed her to "borrow" her own dress under the condition it be returned immediately after the show.

Men's Club Sees Moving Pictures Of U.S.A. Wonders

Moving pictures of many of the beauty spots and scenic wonders of America, including views taken from a plane flying over the snow covered mountain peaks and wild wastes of Alaska, as part of a six-weeks' trip in company with a party of boys who started out from White Plains in June, 1930, held the interested attention of members of the Men's Club of the First Presbyterian Church and their guests at the annual meeting and corned beef and cabbage supper Thursday night.

The pictures were shown by Secretary Goodfellow of the Y. M. C. A., who recently came to the local Y after serving in a similar position at White Plains for 13 years. Introducing the accompanying talk Secretary Goodfellow told the men that the trip he was illustrating that evening was one of many he had conducted during the past 10 years, in which he had covered some 100,000 miles in the United States and abroad. One of these tours was in 1932, when Hitler was coming into power and he told of camping with the boys along the Baltic, where German boys connected with the youth movement in that country also were camping and eating their meals of black bread and potato soup. On the same trip, which covered many of the European countries and included a plane trip over the Alps, they met with 3,000 Boy Scouts in Denmark and stood in the rain while the American national anthem was played—a most impressive experience, he said.

Started From White Plains

In the trip illustrated, the party set out in two cars, from White Plains, in June. They traveled south to Virginia and across country to the Grand Canyon, making the descent of a mile to the bottom on mule back. Thence they drove to Santa Barbara and the Pacific Coast and up to Seattle, from where they took a steamer to Alaska, going up the picturesque inside passage and stopping at the salmon canneries en route. They landed at Skagway, base for the gold rush which began in 1898 and which in the days of the Klondike activity had a population of many thousands, but now has dwindled to hundreds. The adventures of Mr. Goodfellow and his troop of boys included a three days hike over the mountains, crossing of several streams and into their icy waters with no resulting serious effects and through the 4,000 foot high Chilkoot Pass, where they were attacked by "some of the biggest mosquitoes I ever saw." Some of the views also showed the edges of live glaciers, with the boys walking barefoot over the broken ice at the foot.

Mr. Goodfellow said that this three months trip cost the boys $300 each and they received ideas of the industries, architecture and scenic aspects of their country which they could have obtained in no other way.

Preceding Mr. Goodfellow's talk President Harold Smith of the Men's Club presented Scout Executive R. Gardner Burns, Troop 8, sponsored by the Men's Club, being their guests for the dinner. Mr. Burns congratulated the scouts on the progress they had made in less than a year and at the present request of Gordon Craig, Jr., assistant scoutmaster, invested two scouts, Frank Koup-hout, Jr., and Watson Goodrich, with pins indicating that they had successfully passed their tenderfoot requirements.

The executive told the Men's Club that under orders from the national office the Boy Scouts were being prepared to render any service in their power, should a national emergency arise. Particularly will they tie in with the work of the Red Cross. It was emphasized that the boys would be prepared to do those things which they could do. Mr. Burns said that sometimes they tried to do things which they were not capable of doing, with unfortunate results.

The dinner prepared by Chef Van Valkenburg and his committee was a gastronomic triumph. In fact Mr. Goodfellow said that although he had traveled 100,000 miles he never in all his experience had sampled a better plate of corned beef and cabbage.

At a brief business meeting following the dinner officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: Chester Baltz, Jr., president; Allan Coutant, vice president; Everett Howard, secretary; Lester Dennis, treasurer.

Kingston, N. Y.

Dear Dr. Holcomb:

We are in receipt of your resignation as a member of the Selective Service Examining Board of the City of Kingston.

At a meeting held last evening the Local Board No. 313 accepted the same with regrets. We realize this work has taken considerable of your valuable time, and as there are a great many physicians in the city of Kingston who will, we are sure, be patriotic enough to contribute their time to make these examinations so that we can be ready to fill our quotas when called upon under the Selective Service Act, we feel that you are justified in asking for this release.

We also appreciate the fact that you will continue, however, to X-ray these registrants at the Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital. We know that in a case of an emergency you would always be glad to come to our assistance with your valuable advice.

Again thanking you for the valuable service you have rendered and wishing you continued health and happiness, we are

Very truly yours,

Favorites for the Flower Garden

A box for raising seedlings, divided into cells 1½ or 2 inches square. Individual plants are grown in each section. The cells should be filled flush with the top of separators, and surplus soil scraped away with a board.

AP Feature Service

The president of a seed firm obviously would have the widest choice possible in selecting seeds for his personal garden.

So one of them, David Burpee of Philadelphia, was asked what he would do if he were limited to the selection of six flowers only for his garden. His choices:

Marigolds Zinnias
Petunias Scabiosa
Gaillardia Sweet Alyssum

"These six classes of annual flowers are the easiest of all to grow," Burpee says.

"Garden soil anywhere, especially in those sections of the country where we have hot summers and where the most people in America live. They are the ideal American garden flowers; they need no coddling or fussing over; they just grow. Give them a sunny location and they will make a glorious showing at very little expense."

"Marigolds, plain flowers that were once famed largely for their orange and yellow blooms in the fall, have been so much improved in recent years that they are, today, America's leading garden flower."

With or Without Odor
"There are now marigolds of many forms, shapes, sizes, colors and plant habits, with or without odor, whichever you prefer."

"Some resemble carnations, other chrysanthemums, still others petunias. One reminds you of Rudbeckia Golden Glow."

"Then there are hybrid marigolds which begin to bloom eight or nine weeks from seed and continue to bloom without interruption until killed by frost."

Following a close second to marigolds are the lovely, popular zinnias, whose wide variety of flower forms, flower sizes and plant habits make them excellent material for both cutting and garden purposes. They have a long period of bloom and give continuous showing from early summer until frost.

"Petunias come in a wide variety of flower forms, colors and plant habits. Some are especially suited for bedding and pot culture, others are ideal for edgings and mass plantings, and still others are unexcelled for porch and window boxes. All are excellent for cutting."

"Annual double gaillardia is most dependable and profuse blooming. It comes into bloom early, withstands drought and hot weather so that quantities of large, brilliantly colored, long-stemmed flowers bloom throughout the summer and late fall until killed by hard frosts."

"Scabiosa is an old favorite greatly improved and is one of the most desirable annuals for the garden and cutting. The flowers come in a wide range of colors from deep purplish black through blue, pink, red and white."

"Sweet Alyssum is a must" in any garden; easily grown, free flowering plants that are universally popular for beds, borders, edgings, rock gardens, pots and window boxes. Of quick growth, they bloom all summer and fall."

Here's a Tip on Starting Plants
Do you have trouble separating tiny plants when they are ready to be transplanted from cold frame or greenhouse bench to outdoor garden?

Take a tip from George Beach, associate horticulturist at Colorado State college.

To minimize shock to plants and facilitate the job of transplantation, he uses tiny partitions in the box in which the seed or seedlings are to be grown. You can use the folding ones that come as separators in egg crates. The partitions also are obtainable under the name of wood veneer plant bands in seed stores.

Fill each partition with soil, flush with the tops of the separators. Water will settle the soil to leave the proper depression for future waterings.

When plants are ready to transplant, the separators are slipped out first, leaving a square of soil around each plant. Thus it is unnecessary to tear plants apart.

At 11 p. m. the Rev. R. E. Farley, leader of the Kansas United Dry Forces, was aroused from his sleep by the ringing of his telephone.

"Yes, it is."
"The Dr. Farley who is head of the Kansas Drys?"
"Yes."
"Well, you're all dry. That's too bad. I'm all wet."
And she hung up.

The flustered judge excused the jury so he could figure out his next move.

Comeau Tells Club
U. S. Needs Better
World Knowledge

"If we, as Americans, had had a better understanding of foreign affairs we would not have allowed our domestic affairs to get into the condition they have during recent years," Attorney Martin F. Comeau of Woodstock and Kingston, said at a largely attended meeting of Kiwanis at the Governor Clinton Hotel Thursday noon.

Mr. Comeau made the remark in the course of a very timely and interesting talk, unfortunately condensed because of the shortness of the program hour, on "Observations in Turkey." The speaker, who enlisted in the navy at the age of 16, rose to the rank of lieutenant and during the World War was second in command of the U. S. Destroyer Barry overseas. Following the war, while the nations were waiting for the completion of the peace treaty, Americans who had numerous interests in Turkey, found many complications facing them and Admiral Mark Bristol was detailed to take charge of affairs at Constantinople. Lieut. Comeau was assigned as aide to Admiral Bristol and was with him for a year, from July, 1919 to July, 1920. Thus, while he disclaimed any assumption of authority in speaking of Turkey and its people and customs, he had been given an opportunity to see and hear many things of interest and to draw conclusions from what he saw.

Geography Is Important

The geography of Turkey has been the all-important factor in its history, the speaker said. He likened its location to that of a corner lot in the busy center of a city, as it possesses and guards the Dardanelles, entrance to the Sea of Marmora, thence through the Bosphorus into the Black Sea, on which borders Russia, Rumania and Bulgaria, with all their business and commercial interests.

Thus, it was the fall of Constantinople in 1453, cutting off the route to the Far East, that brought on a condition that led Columbus to make his voyage in search of a western passage.

Because of its importance the covetous eyes of the nations have been on it throughout history, and Russia, Germany and England, particularly have sought to control the Bosphorus, or barring that, to keep the others from controlling it.

The Balkan situation, generally, Mr. Comeau referred to as a "matter of real estate," only whereas in any country real estate transfers are handled through the courts, over there it is a matter of the conqueror's might.

Interesting was the speaker's statement that as a result of his sojourn in Turkey he had found it necessary to correct numerous prejudices regarding the Turkish people, mostly arising from slogans which had been given general publicity. He said that he had a good deal of respect for the Turkish people when he returned to this country; for the most part they are farmers, inclined to be slow, dull thinkers and not such as would shine in the market place. "But, when they are swindled," he said, "their revenge is terrible."

Reasons for Alliance
Mr. Comeau saw Turkey coming on the side of the democracies for three reasons—because as an ally of Germany in the World War she "lost her shirt," and because Germany for it, because, as an ally of Great Britain she hopes to regain some of her lost territory; and because of the modern miracle of evolution that has been wrought in Turkey, leading her towards democracy.

As a result of the World War Turkey lost Mesopotamia, which became the Kingdom of Iraq; Palestine, which became a British mandate; Syria, which became a French mandate; and Arabia, which is now Saudi Arabia. As a result of these losses her population fell from 21 to 16 millions. It was observed, however, that Russia enters the picture in a different light today.

Mr. Comeau observed that it was hard to believe the changes that the democratic revolution had made in Turkey during the past 20 years. He noted: The disposal of the Sultan, with now a representative National Assembly of 452 members, of which 14 are women; the observance of Sunday instead of Friday as a holy day; adoption of the Gregorian calendar; outlawing of the fez; granting of suffrage to women; Mohammedanism no longer a state religion; women no longer segregated nor forced to go veiled.

Two American colleges, Roberts College and the College for Women in Constantinople, were credited with a large share in spreading the doctrine of democracy. Most of the educated people in Turkey, it was said, have been associated with one of these institutions. Comparison was made between what these colleges have done in Turkey as proponents of democracy and what has been noted of trend toward socialism in the colleges of the United States.

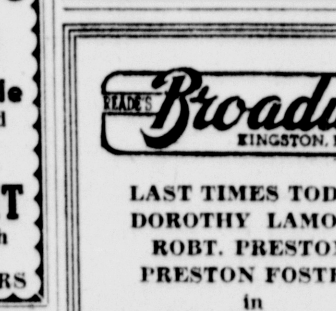

In conclusion Mr. Comeau saw the United States having a great responsibility towards these small countries, who look to the larger countries for moral support. "We do not need to be entangled in their problems," it was maintained.

D. A. R.'s Observe Hawaiian Day With Speaker and Music

The auditorium of Wiltyck Chapter House presented a decided Hawaiian atmosphere at the March meeting held Thursday afternoon. Upon the stage were arranged views and various souvenirs of Hawaii and scarlet leis were about the room in profusion.

The speaker, Miss Louise W. Van Wagenen, one of the chapter members, had taught school for several years in Hawaii and had learned to love dearly both the land and its people. Her subject was "Hawaii's Contribution to America."

She spoke of the lure of Hawaii which many had struggled for words to express in song and poetry. In this land, she said, all seasons merge into a perpetual spring yet the finest qualities of each season may be found with a slight change of altitude. The mercury seldom rises above 85 degrees or below 65 degrees. Brilliant fragrant flowers from the world's four corners as well as native flora riot over the landscape.

The Hawaiians themselves have set a pattern in contagious good cheer and sincere friendship, the speaker said. The term Honolulu's "a mosaic, mellowed with years in which old Polynesian lives and pulses from the heart of a modern American city."

She traced the progress of the natives from 1778 when Captain Cook found about 300,000 natives living in grass huts with earth floors, dressing in tapa cloth and eating their native food, poi, to the coming of the missionaries early in the 19th century.

Mrs. Percy Knapp, dressed in costume, told the story of a little Hawaiian boy, Obokiah, through whose efforts this great contribution was made. The Hawaiian Evangelical Association, organized in 1882, promotes the welfare of 121 churches and 33,000 people of all ages and five racial groups.

Miss Van Wagenen continued her narrative telling how the problems of the racial relations were worked out in Hawaii. She also mentioned natives who, wishing to enlist in the United States Civil War, and being rejected, finally reached this country and were placed by Lincoln in the National Guard. The country tried for years to be annexed to the United States. Miss Van Wagenen believes that Pearl Harbor will be one of the greatest naval bases in the world.

She spoke in high terms of the schools and colleges. The University of Hawaii at Honolulu founded in 1907 she called an important center in the cultural life of the territory. Due to the great number of Japanese employed, about one-third of the enrollment in the country school is Japanese from whom she feels the United States has nothing to fear, as 76 per cent are native-born citizens.

Miss Van Wagenen described Lei Day, Hawaii's happiest, gayest holiday May 1. She also said that she would like to see Hawaii admitted to statehood, explaining that of all the 29 states formerly territories, with the exception of Oklahoma, none had a larger population or greater land value when admitted than Hawaii.

Mrs. Raymond R. Gross, who had charge of the program spoke about the part music plays in Hawaii and sang, in costume, to her own accompaniment on the ukulele, an Hawaiian song, Miss Gladys Avery, in Chinese costume, sang "Sweet Lei Lehua" by Kalamana. She was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Robert Hawksley.

Mrs. A. C. Houghton, who lived in Hawaii for three years, sang and danced an Hawaiian dance in native costume and distributed a scarlet lei to all present during the singing of "Aloha" by Mrs. Gross and Mrs. Ashton Hart in costume with ukulele accompaniment.

The papers of three new members were announced as having been accepted in Washington. They are Miss Grace C. Cater, Mrs. Hazel Hinkley and Mrs. Mabel Schwenk.

Reports on the activities of the Junior Group of Wiltyck Chapter were made by Mrs. William Macgregor Mills, advisor. The regent, Mrs. Charles Terwilliger, announced that the chapter now sponsors 10 "Good Citizen Clubs."

Announcement was made by Miss Louise W. van Hovenberg, chapter chairman, that the April meeting will consist of an informal discussion of "Why I Am Proud to be a D.A.R. or Otherwise." Each one is requested to be prepared to take part in the discussion.

The hostesses were Mrs. James A. McCommons and Miss Catherine McCommons. Hawaiian coffee and tea and the native dish, poi, were among the refreshments served.

MANAGERS OF STORES PLEASE NOTE:

An embarrassing situation which is particularly appealing because it has happened at least a few times to us all—though not always with such unhappy results—is described as follows: "I've simply got to tell you about an utterly harmless Christmas-sealed box that was sent to us over a year ago, which has just exploded, almost as if it were a time bomb! My husband and I received a box of 'magic'—all sorts of gadgets with which to do tricks. It was plainly marked for us, but not a card or bit of writing could we find to tell us who sent it. No letter followed it—so I went to the store only to find there was no way of tracing the sender, who had obviously paid cash for it. For weeks we asked everyone we could think of—in vain. Meanwhile, we spent our evenings reading the directions and trying our best! But it was of no use! Neither of us is good at magic and we have no children.

"So, under the bed the big box went (the only place we had in our small apartment to store it), hoping that some day the giver would turn up and do the tricks for us—or that perhaps the boy for whom the present might have been intended would claim it. About three months later we were giving a bridge party and needed new cards and table covers badly. So my husband thought of exchanging the tricks. Lovely things we got! And then just now, a year later, the bomb (that wasn't there) went off.

"A man from out of town, whom we met several years ago on a cruise, telephoned us, and we invited him, with one other friend, to dinner. During the course of the evening, between rubbers of bridge, he skillfully did several card tricks and spoke of other tricks that he couldn't do without equipment. Suddenly the bomb went off! I knew that this equipment had been in that trick box. To add to my confusion all the kings and queens on the pack scattered on the table seemed to float before my eyes in steady procession with the ugliest smirks on their faces. This all happened so quickly that before I thought of what to say, we went on playing, and I said nothing. My unsuspecting husband spent a pleasant evening—until he later agreed that our giver had been found. But whatever can we do now? Must we buy a duplicate box to keep, on the chance of his coming to town again? Or what?"

In answer to this, if he is likely to come back soon again, you could of course smooth over the situation completely (if he doesn't by unhappy chance read this). On the other hand, since nothing was said, it may be safe to let it alone. The distressing angle in this situation is that he obviously cared about his present. It wasn't just something sent you, but the something that had for him enchantment. But it will be flat if you can only pretend to like something you don't! Better, I think, to let it go! The only point in writing this story is to tell the managers of stores to make an especial effort to get and keep the addresses of all present-givers—unless they say "No name is to go!" and purpose to withhold it. Cards are not often lost, but when they are, few stores are able to trace givers who have no charge accounts. Nearly all of us have at some time encountered this situation.

Shultis Sets Pace With 18 Markers; Locals in Playoff

Johnny Gilday Collects 13; Score Close at Half Time; Juliano Is High for Losers

It was Jess Shultis on the firing line again last night for the Y-Joneses basketball team as the local cagers continued to go higher in the Mid-Hudson League by trimming Arlington by the score of 51 to 28. Shultis tossed in 18 markers.

For the last three weeks Shultis has been one of the hottest cagers in this city. He has been responsible for a couple of Mid-Hudson League victories and wins in the City Basketball League.

Arlington kept on the heels of the Y-Joneses club last night in the first two sessions but with Shultis coming to the front in the final two periods, the visitors were sharply outplayed and outscored. By winning last night the Joneses clinched a berth in the playoffs.

Another impressive basketballer for Kingston last night was Johnny Gilday, who, like Shultis, has been on the verge of recently with his point-getting. Gilday tossed in 13 points last night. Juliano scored 10 for Arlington but his high score wasn't enough to overcome the huge lead piled up by the local quintet.

Maroon Will Play Saugerties Quintet In Final Tonight

Local Cagers Hope to Gain 'Payoff' for Last Defeat; Kingston Has Small Hope for Finals

The end of the trail for Kingston High School's basketball team will be reached tonight in Saugerties as the local cagers do battle with Larry Cahill's squad. Saugerties won the first game which was played at the municipal auditorium. Game time is scheduled for 8:15 o'clock.

With chances of entering the playoffs in the DUSO League very slim the Kiammen will undoubtedly be playing their final 1940-41 contest tonight against the ancient rivals from the North Ulster town.

After beating a strong Newburgh Goldback team last week at the auditorium the Maroon and White cagers fell prey to Poughkeepsie's deadly last period rush at the local floor Tuesday night and lost a close 31 to 29 decision to the Kalochemen.

Despite its inability to place very close to the top standings in the running for DUSO League honors the Kiammen surprised the other teams in the loop with their individual high scorers, Rod Sagendorf, Bud Luedtke and Dick McConnell, all top-flight marksmen failed to bring the local squad into the position. However, these cagers at least demonstrated their shooting ability.

Coach G. Warren Kias will start with his regulars consisting of Rod Sagendorf and probably Bill Ball at forwards, Dick McConnell at the pivot post, and Bud Luedtke along with Capt. Bill Strubel in the backcourt.

Washington, March 7 (P)—Billy Conn, the Pittsburgh Adonis, toyed with Danny Hassett for four rounds last night, then knocked out his heavier opponent with a left to the jaw 35 seconds after the start of the fifth. Conn, pointing for a whirl at Joe Louis in June, weighed 181, while the over-stuffed Philadelphia displaced 204½. Hassett proved a simple target and Conn worked him over almost at will. ## Stock Market Also Turns Upward With Volume Showing Increase Led by the import group, where concern over rising shipping rates and rumors of the presence of a trader in the Pacific tended to further increase prices, commodities again moved ahead Thursday, the Dow-Jones futures index gaining over half a point for the day, to close at 58.68 per cent of the 1924-26 average, highest since May 14, 1940. Cocoa, rubber, hides, domestic sugar and pepper set new highs for the year. There was increased demand for refined sugar at the new price basis of 4.65 cents a pound in the eastern market and raw sugar went up to 12 cents a pound on purchases by both operators and refiners. The raw market was reported to have been cleared of supplies at the price, with possibly as much as 20,000 tons sold.

honey-Maloney proposals were expected to command solid support of the aid bill's opponents. Failure of both proposals technically would clear the way for action on a "compromise" amendment drafted by administration leaders, but opponents said bluntly that they would not let it come to an immediate vote.

The compromise, formulated in an effort to block all other amendments governing the use of armed forces, states in the main that nothing in the legislation can be construed as changing existing law governing the use of American military and naval forces.

Predicts 2-to-1 Majority

Barkley predicted a two-to-one majority for the compromise, but opposition leaders said that before it could be voted on they would offer several other substitutes.

Senator Johnson (R-Calif.) was ready with two amendments—one to forbid the use of American armed forces outside the western hemisphere and another to prohibit the use of money appropriated under the British aid legislation for the maintenance of such forces. Neither amendment would be operative in wartime.

Even the defeat of the Johnson proposals would leave the opponents with a final card to play—a motion to substitute for the administration compromise Senator Ellender's (D-La.) original amendment stating that nothing in the bill would give the President additional power to send troops out of this hemisphere.

Ellender accepted the administration amendment yesterday and offered it in place of his own, which previously had attracted substantial support.

Arguing for support of the compromise draft, Senator Byrnes (D-SC) declared it made plain that nothing in the bill authorized the use of military forces in foreign areas.

"This says," he continued, "that no attorney general or anybody else could construe the bill to mean that troops could be used and it ought to allay the fears of those who have thought otherwise."

"It is couched in such language that the war lords of no nation can misconstrue it abroad as changing the present policy of our navy."

Opponents, however, retorted that the compromise was meaningless and totally inadequate.

Leaders of both sides, meanwhile, abandoned all thought of obtaining a final vote on the bill this week.

Probe of Possible Arson Case Still Without Results

Investigation by Deputy Sheriffs Vredenburg and McCullough and Trooper Metzger of the B. C. I. of what is believed to have been an attempt to burn the large dairy barn of John F. Kirm at Port Ewen Wednesday night, so far as the officers are concerned, has thrown little light on the affair.

The barn is on Salem street, with the Kirm residence nearby and Mr. Kirm told the investigators that it was about 8:30 Wednesday night that his dog began to bark and looking out he saw someone moving around the buildings. An investigation showed that kerosene had been thrown against the side of the barn.

The sheriff's office was notified and the matter investigated, but little further was disclosed. Two residents of Port Ewen who drove past the Kirm place about the time that the incident is thought to have taken place noticed nothing suspicious around the buildings.

St. Remy Firemen Hold Installation Meeting

The St. Remy Volunteer Firemen had their 11th installation of officers Wednesday night. All new officers were installed with the exception of the Treasurer.

Fred Spinnewer with the assistance of Robert Doyle, both of Port Ewen, installed the officers. They were installed in order, Chief P. Fisher, Jr., captain A. Dalluge, First Lieutenant S. Ver-White, Secretary W. Wood, Treasurer H. Havlin, two trustees, P. Fisher, Sr., for three years and J. Eckert for one year. Then four wardens, K. Krom, E. Frost, George Attanas and J. Blawis. Last was Sergeant-at-Arms H. Thompson.

There were approximately 80 people in attendance. Among those present were: James Loughran, Harry Walker, Raymond Howe, Gus Hotelling, Harry Williams and Fred Relyea.

There were also present officers of the following fire departments, Port Ewen, Connelly, Esopus, Tilton and New Paltz.

Robert A. Hoffman, the retiring chief, made a short speech thanking the members who had worked with him during his five years as chief. Mr. Hoffman was presented with an ex-chief's badge.

A roast beef supper was served at 11 p. m. Wilson Tinnely, Peter Donnelly and Rodney Du Bois furnished most of the entertainment. Moving pictures were shown.

Stewart May Be Called

Hollywood, March 7 (AP)—Actor James Stewart's draft board said today the lanky Academy Award winner had been placed in Class 1-A, making him immediately available for military service.

Secretary Earl W. Barton declared in a statement: "Stewart was originally classified as I-B on November 26, because of weight deficiency. Stewart had requested that he be placed in Class I-A and in February he appealed the board's decision and again requested that he be placed in Class I-A. At this time he also volunteered for immediate induction. Following another examination he was reclassified on March 3 and placed in Class I-A. He has been instructed to hold himself available for the March call."

Budget Called Illegal

Albany, N. Y., March 7 (AP)—The court of appeals has ruled illegal Nassau county's 1941 budget of $17,813,000. Reversing an appellate division decision, the state's highest tribunal in an opinion yesterday by Associate Judge Edward R. Finch said: "A consideration of all the provisions relating to the budget leads us to the conclusion that this proposed budget must contain line by line items and may not consist of lump sums where it is practical to state the item." The decision was unanimous.

Lehman Vetoes Bill

Albany, N. Y., March 7 (AP)—Governor Lehman vetoed today a potential hardship on working persons a bill which would have kept special election polls open from 7 a. m. to 8 p. m. instead of the present 6 a. m.-6 p. m. Asserting he had "no objection to an extension of voting hours," the governor said the proposal "will deprive working men and women of the privilege of voting before leaving for their work. Many such voters are in the habit of availing themselves of this opportunity," he added. "A large percentage of the total vote cast is during early morning hours."

Minard Forbids Broadcast by 4 Condemned Men

Columbia, La., March 7 (AP)—District Attorney C. C. Minard this morning positively forbade Sheriff G. E. Erskine of Caldwell parish to permit four condemned prisoners here to broadcast over radio station KMLB of Monroe just before their execution at noon today.

The four condemned men had prepared radio manuscripts running from 80 to 500 words and were scheduled to take the air about 11 a. m. (CST). Microphones had been placed in their death row cells by the Monroe station for the broadcasts in which the prisoners emphasized in advance copies given the press that "crime does not pay," and told relatives farewell.

Minard acted after talking with an unnamed authority in Baton Rouge. Sheriff Erskine made no comment.

A Gentle Hint

Bern, Switzerland (AP)—The Swiss department of war economy has forbidden merchants to warn verbally and in written advertisements of increased prices and shortages of goods. One can, however, still hear hawkers at the public market say: "There is a fine article, but who knows, tomorrow it may be rationed. Buy now."

When the basement of a public art gallery in Glasgow, Scotland, was converted into an air-raid shelter, city officials protested against the "sacrilege," pointing out that several Rembrandts were stored there, but Lord Provost Dollan declared that a live McPherson was more valuable than a dozen dead Rembrandts.

Washington Daybook

By Jack Stinnett

Washington—Like a growing kid, the government is busting out of its clothes. And no mother, on a limited budget that didn't permit buying Junior a new suit every other month, could get any more gray hairs than the Public Buildings administration, the Office of Planning and Space control, and a lot of others.

Even though government building is going on around here at such a dizzy pace you can almost go up in an elevator today over the same ground where you played one-eyed cat with the kids yesterday, office space can't keep up with government expansion.

It's national defense, of course, but merely to say that that has resulted in the employment of 30,000 or 40,000 employees in the District of Columbia doesn't give any picture of the office space problem.

One Solution: Two Shifts

For example, the navy is putting its clerical force on a two-shift basis, with one coming on early in the morning and working until mid-afternoon; the other picking up there and working until nearly midnight. Out in Arlington, Va. there is under construction (and a number of officials are complaining because it is too slow) Federal Office Building No. 2. (Federal Office Building No. 1 hasn't been started.) No. 2 is to take care of navy department workers, but already they are planning another building, a million-dollar "temporary" one, just back of the present structure on Constitution avenue. This present one, by the way, is a "temporary" building, built during the World war.

First wing of the army's beautiful new building will be ready for occupancy soon, but it will take care only of about 500 workers, and that's not a drop in the bucket. And already, it is said, the army has plans drawn for a huge "temporary" building here or in nearby Virginia.

The defense commission is being booted out of the Federal Reserve building and is scattering all over town. Leon Henderson's staff has taken quarters in Rural Electrification's former offices on Massachusetts; Harriet Elliott is now in Paul McNutt's old offices in Public Health service.

This sort of listing could go on forever, but perhaps it is worth snickering over that Housing Coordinator Charles Palmer has been moved out of his nice offices and put down in an aging residence. And that it is rumored that the government is dickering with the District of Columbia to buy the District's new office building and fill it up with the defense commission.

What is more important is how Nelson A. Rockefeller solved part of his office problem. Young Nelson, as you may know, is (take a deep breath) head of the Office for Coordination of Commercial and Cultural Relations Between the American Republics. He looked over his crowded staff, brought a little Rockefeller practicality to bear and said: "This part of the work and that part of the work could be done in New York. Why not?" And so he is moving part of his staff to the Big City, not only solving his own space problem but making way for others.

Dirksen Resolution

This may be the beginning of a trend and an important one. It has hardly progressed beyond the talk stage yet, although Rep. Everett Dirksen of Illinois has introduced a resolution to set up a House committee to study it. It is decentralization.

The officials and congressmen who are talking it are beginning to ask the same question about a lot of agencies that Rockefeller asked about his own. In a lot of cases they can't find any logical answer to "why not?"

Some of the agencies already mentioned which might locate their headquarters in the field are the Interstate Commerce commission, the Railroad Retirement board, Social Security, the Census Bureau and some of the farm agencies.

If anything comes of it, Washington merchants and landlords will probably set up an awful howl, but you probably won't head that kind of music from similar business men in cities that get the agencies dumped in their lap.

Two Are Arrested

Herman Adelson of Mt. Vernon and Henry Crockett of Medford, Mass., both charged with overtime parking on Thursday, furnished bail for their appearance later in police court.

SHOKAN

Shokan, March 7.—David Hollander of New York is visiting his friend, Martin Retting. Mr. Hollander is a collector of antiques.

Mrs. Egbert Boice and cousin, Miss Grace Davis, both of Kingston, were guests Sunday at the home of their relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Otis Wright of the north boulevard.

The condition of Mrs. Catherine McKenny, who has been ill for the past week, continues to show improvement.

Mrs. Jules Engleberg of the state road was hostess to members of the local bridge at her home today.

Callers in the village Sunday included Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Imperial and son of Kingston, Mrs. Imperial, who formerly resided in this section, reports that her brother, Archie Van Benschoten of Mt. Marion, is not in good health this winter.

Tuesday, March 7, 1893, the annual Olive town meeting resulted in the election of all Democratic candidates with the exception of C. H. Weidner, who was defeated by Zedec P. Boice for the office of supervisor. Mr. Boice's majority was 149 votes, while Isaac L. Merrihew of Olive City, running for town clerk, had a lead of 160 votes. About 700 votes were cast in Olive at town meetings in the early nineties.

Mrs. Charles Richter returned home Saturday from New York, where she went to help celebrate the birthday anniversary of her mother, Mrs. Mary Thoman, a summer resident of Shokan.

Kingston residents attending Sunday morning services in the local O. S. Baptist meeting house included Mr. and Mrs. Amasa Slawson and Mr. and Mrs. Orville Winchell. The services were conducted by Elder Arnold H. Bel-lows of West Hurley.

Resistance Faces G.O.P. Over Plan To Pass Budget

Albany, N. Y., March 7 (AP)—A threat of "angry taxpayer resistance" today faced the Republican legislative majority's plan to force approval next week of the G.O.P.-reduced state budget.

The Citizens Public Expenditure Survey, a taxpayer organization, pleaded with all legislators by telegram not to "railroad" the proposed $384,206,683 program without a "fair hearing" of taxpayer recommendations for further savings.

Majority leaders pressed for an assembly vote next Wednesday, despite this and Democratic Governor Lehman's criticism that a $1,271,000 reduction of his proposed defense appropriations would "hamstring and nullify" defense activities.

The expenditure survey termed the G.O.P. budget, $1,486,769 lower than Lehman's 1941-42 proposal, an "empty gesture for economy" by which taxpayers "will not be appeased."

LOWEST AND BEST BIDDER

All good business people reserve the right to accept not the lowest but the best bid. To deal with the lowest bidder involves a risk that is not good business.

We have sold thousands of electrical appliances over the length and breadth of the land. We are proud of these appliances and their performance and believe that our customers are proud of them also. But there is one appliance we have not had much luck in selling, that is the Vacuum Sweeper. We set out to find the reason why. And we found out that house-to-house salesmen had sold a variety of miraculous sweepers that do everything from firing the furnace to changing the baby.—But usually failed in things for which they were primarily intended, that is, to remove the dirt from your floors, automobile and upholstered furniture without tearing them apart. We found one woman in Stone Ridge who had paid $60.00 for a vacuum sweeper, a veritable power-house affair, and a lady three doors away paid $98.00 for the same sweeper from the same salesman. We found one salesman had started out in the morning at $98.00, stayed all day and finally took $30.00 for the outfit—looks as if they wore him down instead of him wearing them down—don't think he's been back to Ulster county since.

Now, folks, we want some of that Vacuum Sweeper business. We refuse to wear a stand-up collar and a red necktie—we haven't the time to come and stay all day, so we are going to make you an offer—whose quality will make it the best bid, and whose price will make it the lowest bid. Look below and see the magic name in electricity—
